➤ Information on Imereti Region and Kutaisi

City and Municipality

Imereti is one of the historical-geographical parts of western Georgia, its main city is Kutaisi. Imereti is divided into Upper and Lower Imereti. It is bordered on the north by the Likha Range, on the west by the Tskhenistskali River, on the east by the Caucasus Mountains, and on the south by the Fersati or Meskheta Mountains. The lowland landscapes of Imereti are covered with Colchian vegetation. Imereti has rich flora and fauna.

Imereti lowland is the eastern part of Kolkheti lowland which is dominated by subtropical climate. Here we have mild and warm winters, and hot summers. The average annual air temperature is 11-15 Celsius degrees. Precipitation reaches 1300-80 mm per year. The climate of Upper Imereti is humid subtropical, with early and rainy winters.

Imereti is a region with an ancient culture. It is also beautiful and diverse in nature. Remains of ancient Colchis, temples, waterfalls, mystical Khvamli mountain or numerous caves will take you on a journey into the magical world.

The city of Kutaisi is located in the Imereti region, on the banks of the river Rioni. Kutaisi is the administrative center of Imereti region. It is one of the oldest cities in Georgia and is the fifth oldest city in Europe.

The city area has been inhabited since ancient times. The existence of the Colchian culture is confirmed here from the XV-XIII centuries BC. Documentary history of Kutaisi dates back to the 3rd century BC, although ancient authors considered it the capital of the Colchis Kingdom (VIII century BC). The old names of the city are: Aia, Kutaia and Kutaisi.

On the right bank of the river Rioni there are traces of an extensive settlement. In the VI century Kutaisi was the capital city of Egrisi. By the end of the VIII century it was the capital of the United Kingdom of Egri and Abkhazia. In the 10th century, Kutaisi became the capital of the newly united Georgia.

In 1122, David the Builder transferred the royal throne to Tbilisi, although Kutaisi remained an important city, both culturally and historically. Today Kutaisi is the second city in Georgia with developed infrastructure and culture. There are higher educational and vocational schools, museums, theaters, galleries, etc. in Kutaisi.

The city also has restaurants, cafes, hotels, cinemas and other important facilities where you can relax and have a good time. Kutaisi attracts many tourists with its abundance of historical and cultural monuments. Ukimerioni Fortress, Gelati, Bagrati Temple, as well as many other cultural and natural monuments and the beauty of the city itself will surely make you fall in love with Kutaisi.

➤ Information on Kutaisi University

Kutaisi University Ltd is one of the few private (non-state) higher education institutions outside Tbilisi with the status of a university. It is a relatively young academic institution with a 26-year history of existence, although it is one of the oldest private higher education institutions in Georgia. Since 2018, the University is a member of the Georgian Association of Private Universities.

The University was founded in 1991 under the name of Kutaisi Institute of Law and Economics, in 1992 it was renamed "Kutaisi University of Law and Economics", in 2010 - "Kutaisi University".

Shortly after its establishment, the University was able to build its own building by mobilizing its own funds - since 1996 it has been operating in the central part of Kutaisi, in accordance with modern standards.

Kutaisi University is an educational and scientific center based on the principles of harmonious cooperation between students, academic and administrative staff.

The University has all the conditions for obtaining a high level of higher education. The educational process is led by distinguished professors in the region and in Georgia.
